[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO JULY 7

The New York Convention

NEW YORK, July 6.—The Democratic Convention re-assembled at 4 o'clock.

The Secretary read a letter from Gen. Frank. [illegible] President of the Soldiers and Sailors' Convention, informing the Convention of the action of the body represented by him, and desiring to know at what time it would be their pleasure of the Convention to receive a Committee with an address.

On motion a committee of five was appointed to wait upon the Convention of Soldiers and Sailors and invite them upon the floor. The Committee soon appeared and took places on the platform. Seymour introduced Gen. Franklin, who briefly addressed the Convention.

C. F. O'Brien then read the address of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention. At the conclusion of its reading three cheers were given for the Sailors and Soldiers.

Loud calls were made for Gen. Thomas Ewing, Jr., who was introduced and received by rounds of applause. He made a speech of some length, declaring he would associate no longer with the Republican party, saying he would henceforth recognize political friends in all who will sustain us in our endeavor to overthrow that party.

Eaton of Connecticut said he understood that the Committee on Platform would not be able to report till to-morrow, therefore he moved to reconsider the vote declaring the platform should be adopted before the nominations were made.

Buel moved to lay the motion to reconsider on the table. After some confusion the latter motion was lost. On a call of States the vote was 142 to 172. The resolution was then reconsidered. After several amendments had been offered considerable confusion followed.

A resolution was adopted offered by Bigler of Pennsylvania, that the roll of States being called in regular order, each State have the right to present the name of any candidate for the Presidency, and that the delegates have five minutes allowed to present their views upon the candidate.

A motion was then made that the Convention adjourn until 10 o'clock on Tuesday, on which the roll of the States was called and the motion prevailed by 209 to 106.

NEW YORK, July 6.—The various delegations having paraded in procession passed near Tammany Hall and arrived at the great hall of Cooper Institute at a quarter to twelve. Torn and tattered battle flags from nearly every field of strife in the late war were present in the procession. The various bands played Hail Columbia, Rally Round the Flag and other patriotic airs. Deafening shouts filled the air. At noon Gen. Franklin called the Convention to order.

Gen. Slocum from the committee on Resolutions reported the committee had not yet prepared the draft of their platform, but he reported an address to the National Democratic Convention, declaring the objects of the conservative soldiers and sailors being the same as animated them during the war, deploring Radical legislation, denouncing the apostacy of men who were once Democrats, declaring that the crimes now being perpetrated in the name of Republicanism and loyalty are not less alarming than those committed by the armed forces of the Government during the war. The address makes a long indictment against the Republican party for many acts since it came into power, and declares the belief that they intend by the use of the army under Grant's supreme control to cause the electoral vote of some States to be cast for himself by force and fraud, and declares the solemn conviction that the free institutions of the country have never been in greater jeopardy than now, and looks to the deliberations of the Democratic party now assembled in Convention with the greatest anxiety, believing that on their action depends the future prosperity of our country. It expressed the belief that there are now living a half a million of men who served in the army of the country who are in their sympathy and judgments opposed to the acts of the party in power, and at least half a million more who heretofore acted with the Republican party, but viewing with alarm the recent acts of that party are now anxious for a change of administration. The address closed by declaring that with a platform of principles reviewing no mean issues, but looking only to the arrest of existing evils, and with candidates whose fidelity to the Constitution and devotion to the country cannot be questioned, we shall co-operate with the Democrats in this campaign with enthusiasm and consider that it will bring victory and salvation to the country.

A motion was unanimously carried that the report be accepted, and a committee of twenty-one was appointed to present the same to the Democratic Convention.

A motion was carried that the States be called in order for the presentation of the resolutions which were presented and refused. Alabama was called but failed to respond.

The Convention then adjourned to 10 o'clock to-morrow.

PARIS, July 4.—In the Corps Legislatif the discussion on the budget of war continues. Jules Favre replied that on this question to the attacks of the opposition, which he characterized as an attempt against the Empire and worthy only of scorn. A strong army, he declared, was a pledge of peace. By her acts France was to preserve peace and independence, but all nations must ever be prepared for the contingency of war. France had no kindred design, but could not consent to disarmament, for no confidence could be placed in the fraternity of nations.

Rouher, in a subsequent speech on closing the debate, said the Emperor's government accepted the idea of German unity and recognized the rights of nations [illegible]. The only war possible for France was one of defense of her territory, honor or self reliance.

It is reported that a furlough will be granted to all the rank and file of the Fifth Corps de Armie.

RAYMOND'S LOVE LETTERS.—Gen. Alfred [illegible] was not with the explanation that he desires to [illegible] Henry J. Raymond, writes as follows to the Cleveland Leader:

Ten years ago [illegible] went along the newspaper quarter of New York having a package of [illegible] letters which he said had been written to her by the editor of the New York [illegible] of the newspapers of New York [illegible] The Sunday Mercury, which would have been benefited [illegible] declined to do any injury to Mr. Raymond. Only the Herald accepted them, and it is said that old Mr. Bennett sent them up-stairs to the composing room. At this time young James Bennett appeared upon the scene as a newspaper novice, and being a Bennett of another generation he threatened to leave his father's office forever if Mr. Raymond were to be scandalized in the Herald. The letters therefore were withdrawn, but the originals or copies of them got [illegible] and have been brought up by people who wish to blackmail or intimidate Mr. Raymond. The usefulness of one of the most genial and clever men in America has been materially affected by these secret assaults. The New York World had the [illegible] to threaten him with them when Raymond pushed it hard in controversy. And now General Butler means to muzzle the press with a love letter. There is every reason to believe that two-thirds of this woman's letters were forgeries, that there was very little basis for the [illegible] and that the whole scandal was a conspiracy.

The whole number of emigrants arriving at Castle Garden, New York, from Europe during the two months ending on the 11th instant is officially stated at 81,781.

The Union Pacific Railway

[Correspondence Chicago Tribune.]

END OF THE TRACK OF THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD, June 5.

As I said in my last letter, public travel on the Union Pacific has ceased at Laramie City. He who would go west of there must ride on ties and iron rails, and happy is the man who has a keg of spikes to sit on [illegible].

[illegible] I left Laramie a few mornings since. I was on an open freight car and seated on a pile of rails. Yet everything was exceedingly pleasant. Our party was composed of General Casement, the great track layer, Colonel Lenham, nephew of the late Senator Douglas, Mr. Hurd, civil engineer on the road, and Mr. Loyd of the Baltimore American. The sun shone bright and the breeze came cool from the snowy mountains. In the afternoon we reached the end of the track. It was the end of the track then, but to-day it is far distant.

From Laramie to here the country is very miserable and very curious. Here and there a patch of buffalo grass may be seen, but rarely anything except sage brush and cactus. The ground seems incapable of producing anything else. The banks of all the small streams glisten with white, where the alkali water has evaporated. Almost all the small streams here are impregnated with this alkali. It renders the water almost useless for all practical purposes, but it produces some very queer effects, as the workmen on the road and the visitors can testify. If one drinks much of it the same effect is produced as if a strong dose of salts had been taken. This greatly disgusted the workmen when they were forced to drink it. Nor can the water be used in the engines with any effect: the steam it makes has no power. The water expands itself in froth and suds and it eats and corrodes the boiler. This has been a great source of annoyance and is one of the worst obstacles that the road has to overcome. Another peculiarity of this water is the effect it produces on the skin of those who wash in it. It roughens the skin of the hand just as a cold wind chaps in winter. It also peels the skin from the face, so that the person who uses this water has a new skin about every seven days. This is especially the case where soap is used in washing. The graders west of here, where the alkali in the water is much stronger, say that when soap is wanted for washing clothes, &c., they put some grease in the alkali water, stir it up with a stick, and then there is soap. Naturally it costs but very little, and when freights are reduced on the road it is proposed to supply the whole United States with cheap and good soap. Unfortunately there is no demand for that article among the Indians, and the Great Western Soap Factory cannot be started at present. As it is every man is his own soap maker. The result of this bad water has been to force the railroad company to dig deep wells along the line of the road. But even this is not always satisfactory; the well at Wyoming, fifteen miles west of Laramie, is almost useless on account of the alkali.

In some places along the road the country is almost completely covered with the low thick sage brush, useless for anything, except in some places where the wood is so large that it can be burned. In this region, where the land happens to be free from the sage brush, it is often so impregnated with the alkali that for two or three inches down the earth crumbles and sinks beneath the feet like ashes.

Every now and then there are found in this region drifts of fossils of fish, oysters, clams, &c., thrown up from the bottom of the sea quite a time ago. Some of these fish are so well preserved that the glitter of the gold and silver on their scales are almost as bright as ever. The oysters and clams are tremendous in size and would well do for the giants of the olden days. Some of the snakes are quite large in size, but few of them are perfect. Some of them are found imbedded in red sandstone, while others lie lodged in the earth. Along with these are to be found many sea shells of various kinds. In some cases the fish will be found split open and all the inner bones perfectly preserved. Some of these drifts are on the top of bluffs, while others are low down. It might pay the Chicago Academy of Science to send some one out here.

Many indications of beds of iron have also been found here, but no one has had time to investigate. Most excellent coal, both cannel and bituminous, has been found thirty-five miles west of here, and not a hundred feet from the track. Should this coal turn out all right, as it undoubtedly will, it will be a great help to the railroad company, as the want of water and fuel have been the two great obstacles encountered.

Within a few miles of the coal are some very strong sulphur springs. Others are also scattered around in different places.

It is known to many, but not to all, that the track is being laid by General J. S. Casement, the great railroad contractor and the fastest track layer the world ever saw. Until the track laid by him is examined and accepted by the Commissioners that part of the road belongs to him, and no one else is entitled to ride over it. It is nothing for him to lay three miles of track a day.

The construction train is always at the end of the track, and always advances with it. It is composed of fifteen cars, and in them are Gen. Casement's headquarters, kitchen, dining room, store-room, bunks for the workmen, etc. In and around this train live the four hundred and fifty odd men who under General Casement are laying the track to Salt Lake. Nine-tenths of them are Irishmen, and many of them have worked on the road since its commencement. Some are constantly leaving and others are as constantly coming. Many of them are green at the work and they do not always begin well. This is especially the case with new mule team drivers, and the result is often disastrous both to the driver and the wagon. The latter stands it the best, however, so that it does not matter much to Gen. Casement. The pay of most of the men is about $45 per month, while the pay of some goes as high as $4 and $5 per day. There is but little to tempt the men to spend money, and many of them lay up a good deal. They are well fed and well taken care of; they can quit any moment they please, receiving their pay at once, and if they wish a pass to Omaha. They are so well divided up into squads and are so well trained and systematized that the work progresses with great rapidity.

The grading of the road is done by other parties, as many as twenty different contractors being at work at a time. General Casement's party has simply to lay the ties and rails and to properly fix them in their places. Every day two or more large trains come to the end of the track loaded with ties, rails and supplies. The first two are flung off at the side of the track, and the ties are put on mule wagons and carried forward ahead of the track, where they are laid by the tie gang under John Mulry. The tie layers generally keep about a quarter of a mile ahead of the track layers.

When the rails have been flung from the train the latter retires. Track cars are then run up to the rails and five men on each side of the cars throw on the rails. The track cars are then drawn [illegible] by a horse to the very end of the track, and the car is run on to the last rail. Two men stand on each side of the car [illegible] the strength [illegible] another moment each set of men has swung off a rail and laid it in its proper position, then the track car runs ahead on the rails just laid, and before they are fastened the same operation is repeated. Following behind the track car come the men who fasten together the rails and the spikers. These men are so well trained that the work is done as by machinery; there is never any break or any delay. Most of the ties are cut in the mountains and floated down the Laramie river, being caught at Wyoming.

With the exception of a mile of rock work the road is graded for about 100 miles beyond the end of the track, and soon the graders will be at work on every mile between there and Salt Lake.

CASHMERE GOATS.—The Springfield (Ohio) Republic says a gentleman of that county has [illegible] the breed extensively. The Republic says:

They were brought from Asia Minor, and we are assured that they can be propagated [illegible] the most valuable results. [illegible] manufactured [illegible] Massachusetts. We have [illegible] texture [illegible] very favorably [illegible] by its appearance. It is held to possess marked advantages both in point of quality and cost.

The South Carolina Sand-Hillers

Mr. Mackey of South Carolina, recently lectured in Washington on the condition of affairs in his State, in the course of which he gave a description of the Sand hillers, who have been always a degraded set of people, by the system under which they have lived. There were about twenty eight thousand of them. The free school is utterly unknown among them and there is no tradition that any of their ancestors ever knew how to read and write. If they ever did, then reading and writing with them are among "the lost arts." They eat a portion of the earth, and are so fond of eating snuff that, in order to get an ounce, one of them has been even known to wash himself! They all voted solid for secession because they were told to do so; they are in fact natural Democrats. In former times, on the eve of an election, rival candidates would make a raid among them and carry off as many as possible and lock them up in "bull pens" till voting day, and sometimes the "pens" would be assailed and the inmates captured and carried off by a rival and held as voters, by the right of capture. Degraded as they are, they are said to be the lineal descendants of Marion's men. Early in the present month one of the Republican orators was addressing about 500 of them, when he was interrupted by a stalwart man, about fifty years of age, who said he would like to make a speech. He was answered that the age of free speech had at last come in South Carolina, and he was allowed to go on. He said: "Feller-citizens, you all know me. I was borned in these hair sand hills. You know I am a Democrat and hate niggers. But I'm gwine to vote the Republican ticket, and I want you all to vote for it too. Cause why? feller citizens, why? I have hed a warnin from the Lord. You know, feller-citizens, I allus raised the best [illegible] game cocks in the State of South Carolina. They never give way for the cold steel, and they was lightning on the gaffs. Wal, Gineral Sherman started down this yer way with his army, and I went out with my rifle and with the boys to [illegible] him. They was too big for us, and drew us all back. Wal, I reckon, when Gineral Sherman come here I had nigh [illegible] seventy of the best dominickers that ever pecked a corn. Wal, Gineral Sharman's men began to shoot my chickens and they banged them all [illegible] the [illegible], and around the house, and on top of the barn, and I reckon when they got threw I hadn't [illegible] chickens left. But before God, they haint one of em crowd from that day to this, [illegible] all full game. That's the reason, fellow-citizens, that I'm gwine to veote the Republican ticket. It's time for we uns to stop crowin and to do the clean thing. Feller-citizens, we [illegible] to have as much sense as a fowl."

These Sand hillers have now learned that the same law that elevates the negro will [illegible] the poor whites. The late contest was one between poor and ignorant loyalty and rich and educated treason, and the right has triumphed.

GEN. GRANT AND THE OLD SOLDIER.—During the year 1865, an old soldier, named Lemuel Owens, was discharged from the Arsenal in this city, owing to some [illegible] reply he gave to a self-appointed [illegible] who were sounding him upon his politics. As Owens had served twenty-six years in the regular army, and had wound up his term of service on the Peninsula, under McClellan, he would allow no man to question his right to vote, and boasted, too, that he had served in the Fourth Infantry, under Grant, when the renowned chieftain was but a lieutenant.

He told the committee he would go and see General Grant himself about the matter. They jokingly replied "Do so, old fellow, he'll make it all right." General Grant was temporarily living at Twentieth and C [illegible] streets in this city, and the [illegible] trudged up, with his story to the General, stopped up, rang the bell, and went into the General's house. He stepped up, rang the bell and went into the entry-hall. When the servant appeared, and saw an old, poorly dressed man, he very [illegible] "What do you want?"

"I want to see General Grant," was the reply.

"The Generals engaged and cannot be [illegible]. Have you got a card?"

Just at this moment a little girl appeared, and old Owens said to her, "Sis, run up-stairs and tell your pop an old fourth Infantry man wants to see him."

A message soon came down for the old soldier to come in, when he was ushered into the presence of Gen. Grant. He shook him by the hand and said, "General, don't you know me?" The General replied that he had seen so many people of late that it was hard to remember them all. Owens told him when he served under him, and that he had been discharged from his work, and that he had lost his eldest son from disease in the war, and his family had nothing to depend upon but his labor. Grant patiently listened to the old soldier's story, and picking up his pen, wrote a few lines to the effect that Owens should have work as long as he wanted it.

The old man was not long in reaching his former field of labor, armed with the formidable order, and when he presented it, with the signature of the Commander-in-Chief attached, it created much surprise, and the veteran soldier was graciously [illegible] as entitled thenceforth to [illegible] veneration.

The Providence (Rhode Island) Journal, Senator Anthony's paper, says: "Every day satisfies us more and more that the Republican party would have been injured by the result had the President been convicted on such evidence as was presented, and the country been forced at the present time into the uncertainties of an ad interim Administration. Such an Administration would have been wanting in those elements of strength which are always derived from a popular election, and for any shortcomings or failures which it might have exhibited, the Republican party would have been compelled to bear the entire responsibility. As it is, however, this great risk has been avoided, and the party with the most buoyant hopes and the brightest prospects is preparing for that grand appeal to the people of the country which is always involved in a Presidential election. The removal of Mr. Johnson as a party proceeding, however gratifying for the moment, would have been, to say the least of it, by no means an easy affair to explain, and it is fortunate that it was not."

Impartiality

To denounce treason against the Republic is according to the Herald a very improper proceeding on the Fourth of July. Any word of condemnation of late rebellion uttered on that day, is offensive to Democrats, and should not be tolerated. If an orator speaks of the achievements of our national soldiers in the late war, and rejoices in the victory won over rebellion he is accused of delivering a partisan harangue. Every utterance of the kind is declared to be a very offensive obtrusion of party views. If any allusion is made in a Fourth of July oration to the events of the last eight years great care must be observed that no word of censure is admitted against the late action of our "Southern brethren." The better way is to avoid the subject entirely, but if it is touched upon, the parties who engaged in the conflict must be treated exactly alike. If the national cause is spoken of with admiration the "lost cause" must be eulogized with tender pathos. If the deeds of Grant and Sherman and Thomas are recounted those of Lee Beauregard and Stonewall Jackson must be spoken of with equal admiration. This is the only way to avoid partiality. This is the only principle on which an oration can be constructed which shall be free from partisan unfairness. Either avoid the subject entirely or treat the "parties" precisely alike. In no other way can the orator avoid "insulting every Democrat present,"—the words in quotation marks being from the Herald.

In order to harmonize, the "Democrat if the Herald rightly represents its party would blot out the history of the last eight y[illegible]. No allusion must be made to rebels [illegible] we soften the term by telling those who lately attempted to destroy the Republic that our fathers were "rebels" too. Our histories must not tell of battles fought and victories won over rebels, but Gettysburg, Stone river and Atlanta must be spoken of as fields where American valor was exhibited and American patriotism sustained by both armies. Any other history would be "partisan" unjust to the South; and "insulting to Democrats." Do such shallow Copperheads as Beriah Brown suppose they can succeed in making history give any other verdict than that of condemnation of the late rebellion? A majority of the people of this nation will always think it proper to denounce treason and to rejoice in loyal victories, on the Fourth of July, as well as other occasions, and if "Democrats" feel aggrieved and "insulted" thereby, they may abandon our national anniversary and honor the late "white man's government" of the South by celebrating the anniversary of Confederate Independence.

[illegible] from a Fourth of July Oration

"What mean the banners flaunting in the air? That [illegible] nationality established by our fathers, has been preserved by their patriotic descendants of this generation, in spite of rebel efforts, aided by 'Democratic' sympathy and encouraged by "Democratic" [illegible]."

"Why do the cannon to the Heavens speak, the Heavens to the earth?"

Because, thanks to the noble patriotism and determined valor of "Radical" soldiers, we still have a country, and a Fourth of July to celebrate. Had "Democratic" counsels been accepted in 1864, and the effort to preserve our nationality abandoned as a "failure," we should now hear "no cannon speaking to the Heavens" on the Fourth of July.

What the Figures Declare.

As one [illegible] is just as good as another for a Copperhead paper, such sheets as the Albany Democrat frequently assert that the national debt is steadily growing larger, and that it will be impossible to pay it while the Republican party has control of the country. It may seem altogether unnecessary to refer to substantial facts for information when unsupported assertions are so cheap, nevertheless we present some official figures on this subject which may be of interest to less imaginative persons than Copperhead editors.

The public debt, on the 31st August, 1865, as stated by the Secretary of the Treasury in his official report, amounted to $2 757,689 571 43. On the 1st May, 1868, after a lapse of thirty two months, the debt, as officially stated by the Secretary, amounted to $2,500,528,821 57. The reduction during this period was therefore $257,160,683 86. This is at the rate of more than eight millions dollars per month, or about ninety-six millions and a half per year. Continuing this rate of reduction for twenty five years, every dollar of the debt would be paid, and by the gradual reduction of the principal and the consequent stoppage of interest, the taxes all the while would be steadily diminished. The past therefore gives assurance that if the Republican party remains in power, the debt will be paid in good faith within a reasonable time.

A cotemporary journal says "The Democrats propose, if the people will put them in charge of the Government, to pay the whole debt in greenbacks (promises to pay gold on demand), and then go into bankruptcy.

The United States can, does, and will under Republican administration, pay its notes and bonds on demand, in gold, as fast as they become due.

The United States, under Democratic administration, will pay its bonds in notes and will not pay its notes at all."

On this question honest people will take one side and all others the opposite. Every secessionist, every unrepentant rebel, every man whose character will not bear examination, will vote for Democratic repudiation.

An Ohio paper says The Democracy prides itself on the protection it insures to the laboring man, and yet, if the statistics of wages in the various States were examined they would disclose the fact that where the Democratic majorities are certain and large, the returns for labor are poor and unremunerative. The lesson to be learned from the statistics is that the wages allowed laboring men, in any particular State are large in proportion to the strength of Republicanism.

The reason why John H Surratt will not again at present be tried for being a party to the murder of President Lincoln is that the former trial proved to all honest men at Washington that it is impossible to get a jury of white men there who would find him guilty on any evidence whatever.

T J Butler of Owyhee has been nominated by the Republicans of Idaho as candidate for Delegate to Congress.

POLITICAL ITEMS

A few days ago Senator Saulsbury of Delaware while talking with some Democratic Congressmen about the New York Convention, said "If they nominate Chase I suppose I must stand it but I'll be d—d if I don't make a fight before I see Fred Douglass put on the ticket with him for Vice President!"

A Trenton (N J) paper reporting the following conversation on the street gives in a nutshell the animus of the opposition to General Grant: Republican—Do you think many Democrats will vote for General Grant? Democrat—No. Republican—Why? Democrat—Because he hurt himself with the Democrats when he captured Lee. Republican—Oh! ah! I see.

Among the names of those appointed to the Convention of bread and butter soldiers at New York was that of General S W Crawford. General Crawford rejects the appointment, declares that his name was used without authority and announces himself unqualifiedly for Grant and Colfax. This amusement of stealing a man's name and damaging his reputation is indulged in too frequently.

Democracy seems to be undergoing such a series of amazing changes about these days as to make it scarcely recognizable by its friends. The New York World the leading Democratic organ in the country recently made the astounding declaration "It is the average judgment of the Democratic party that the late civil war was, by itself a necessary exercise of the authority of a Constitutional Government to put down a rebellion."

The Chicago Tribune has the following: Beriah Brown formerly editor of the Milwaukee News a Democratic candidate for Congress in the Milwaukee district, and since that an editor in California and Oregon has found grief pursuing him wherever he has fled. The other day an indignant Irishman, whom he had slandered and refused to retract, warmed the jacket of the said Beriah until he lifted up his voice and wept. Such is the unsubstantial, unessential shade of earthly fame!

Under the head of "Startling from Virginia" the New York Commercial Advertiser says that ex Confederate General Wm R Terry has started out to stump the State in conjunction with a "Conservative negro" Lafayette Washington by name formerly a slave to Thomas Gilmer. Last week they addressed a rousing meeting of the Conservatives of fifteen counties at Wytheville and are still marching on. Mark, here is not a "carpet bagger" hitched with an imported Northern black but a prominent rebel General traveling in company with and speaking from the same platform with an "indigenous nigger."

Ex Governor Clifford of Massachusetts one of the most conservative men in the Old Bay State knows General Grant well and writes about him as follows: "It has been my good fortune to be thrown into some relations with the distinguished nominee for the Presidency which enable me to speak with confidence respecting his qualifications for the high trust we seek to place in his hands. And I am persuaded that in the present condition of the country there is no man, either in civil or military life, to whose prudence and patriotism the administration of the government could be confided who would justify in an equal degree the assurance of the people in its safe and successful guidance, and in the protection and advancement of all the great interests of the country."

A Typical Change.

[From the Boston Journal June 1[illegible].]

Many of those who listened to the eloquent words of John H Harris, the representative of the colored men of North Carolina, at the grand ratification meeting in Faneuil Hall must have had their minds carried back to days not yet distant in time, but separated by a world wide moral and political revolution. They could recall the appearance of the same platform of William L. Yancey and Jefferson Davis—both, as was then the custom of Southern men everywhere, singing the praise of the institution of slavery and, within the limits of parliamentary language, sneering at and defying its opponents. Now slavery is blotted out, Yancey is dead, and Davis is the spared remnant of a band of traitors, while a slave emancipated by the government addresses his fellow citizens in Faneuil Hall. What facts of like brevity could more vividly and impressively give an idea of the wonderful changes which this country has gone through during the last eight or nine years?

And yet there is a thread of connection as well as a contrast, in these incidents which constitutes not their least instructive feature. Both Yancey and Davis appeared in Faneuil Hall as the champions and advocates of the Democratic party, ostensibly pleading against the alleged enemies of this glorious Union. They themselves soon proved to be the worst foes the Union ever had, and the Government was obliged to crush their conspiracy by the military arm, free the slaves and reconstruct the States of the South. And this colored orator now comes North to appeal against the same Democratic party which was led by Davis and Yancey, which is still doing all in its power at the South to oppress and intimidate the blacks, and which has its close allies and sympathisers in Massachusetts. Thus, some things have changed, but others have not. There are no more slaves under the flag, but there are Northern and Southern Democrats, who mean that those who were once in fetters shall be kept as far as possible from realizing the fruits of freedom, unless, at least, they shall vote the Democratic ticket, and thus become political slaves. But when the freedmen have a voice, to be raised not only in Faneuil Hall, but in every part of the Union and through the press, and when they hold in their hands the ballot, the citizen's weapon and sure guarantee against all aggressions, we may be confident that their cause will prevail, and this typical change witnessed in Faneuil Hall will go on to its full consummation—the perfect equality of rights in the Union, and the overthrow of all parties inimical thereto.

The Israelites and General Grant

The Pittsburg Gazette says

The annexed communication from a highly respectable and influential Jewish citizen of Pittsburgh disposes most effectively of a Copperhead slander upon the great leader of the Union armies. There can be no doubt that Mr Straus states the facts concerning the true sentiments and political sympathies of all honorable Israelites of good standing not only in this community but through out the United States.

"PITTSBURGH, June 15, 1868

"Editors Gazette: There is a great effort made in certain sections of the country by some evil designed persons (better known as the Democratic party) to cast a bad repute upon the Jewish people in their trying to make the public believe that we, as a body, will or should oppose the election of General U S Grant. General Grant needs no defence of mine. His acts throughout the war as well as since its close, speak for themselves and these acts are so grand, so noble and so statesman like that we can well afford and should overlook one fault, especially when we consider the circumstances under which it was done.

Let me assure you, and, through your valuable paper, all our fellow citizens, that every honorable, honest and Israelite will work heart and soul for the success of the Republican ticket as we do not vote for men, but for principle. Furthermore, the writer knows this to be a fact, that, as a general thing, every honorable Israelite of good standing and who is proud of his good name in this and other cities throughout the country, feels himself insulted if classed with those who were hanging around our camps during the war in anything but honorable positions and never have been recognized and they would not now be seen in company of those who call meetings and pass resolutions aiming against the success of the Republican party.

We may well say, "The mountains went to labor and brought forth a mouse" and to this will all the labor of our opponents amount in their endeavors about Grant's order. I am sure had he been their candidate we would not have heard anything about it. Grant Colfax and glorious success is now the watchword in common with our fellow citizens.

"The writer offers his services from now till after the election in any way he can best serve the cause of the Republican party.

Yours respectfully
S STRAUS 124 Second Street."

EXPLOSION OF A STEAM FIRE ENGINE.—A New York dispatch of June 13th says:

About half past nine o'clock last night Metropolitan Engine No 9 exploded in front of the Bowery Theatre killing five persons instantly and wounding in some instances fatally, a number of others. The occasion of the engine being present was a fire at No 53 Bowery which was just extinguished when the explosion took place. The majority of killed and injured were boys who had gathered from curiosity to the spot.

GOVERNOR ANDREW'S IDEA OF TEMPERANCE.—Before leaving his own apartment for the Council Chamber the Governor was accustomed to retreat from visitors into a little intermediate room where he partook of a simple lunch generally of only bread and cheese with a cup of tea. Dr Johnson was not a more devoted lover of tea. He held to the theory that it is a positive nourisher of nervous force, and always was ready to drink it at any time of day or night. Simple in all his diet although like almost all busy professional men a hearty and rapid eater he yet could appreciate the pleasures of the table for he was a thoroughly developed man in all the elements of manhood physical as well as intellectual and moral. In his great argument against the principle of a prohibitory liquor law, made in the winter of 1867 before a committee of the Legislature while reciting the causes which combined to increase the peril of New Englanders from drunkenness besides a hard climate, much exposure, few amusements a sense of care and responsibility cultivated intensely, and the prevalence of ascetic and gloomy theories of life, duty and Providence he enumerates also "the absence of light cheering beverages, little variety of food and great want of culinary skill." He was fond of wine, and used it freely but always with temperance and he despised from the bottom of his heart the prevailing hypocrisy as to its use. No one respected more the discretion of the individual who should abstain from it either from fear of being tempted beyond self control, or for example to others in danger but he demanded equal respect for his own discretion.—Sketch of the [illegible] of [illegible] Andrew.

A Radical paper in Mississippi referring to a Democratic candidate for Congress who spoke in its locality recently says that "he ranted raved fumigated and reallawaged mongreled and kangarooed the Republican party, but accomplished nothing."

The Butte (Cal) Record says that a commission for the survey of the boundary line between California and Oregon passed through that town a short time ago for the scene of their labors. The major part of the commission was composed of Daniel G John and John J Major.

The Jacksonville Sentinel says: We learn from Superintendent Corbett, who passed through on Monday, that the schedule time of the California stages is to be reduced to two and a half days between Portland and Sacramento. The time from here to San Francisco will be only three days. The new arrangement will probably go into effect to morrow the California stage leaving immediately on the arrival of that from Portland.

Salem says a correspondent of the Lewiston (Idaho) Journal, can turn out from two to five hundred barrels of flour daily, fifty thousand feet of excellent lumber with a sufficient quantity planed and [illegible], five hundred to one thousand yards of woolen cloth two hundred gallons of linseed oil, the little leather from her tanneries and the work of her numerous cabinet, blacksmith and other mechanical shops sufficient for the trade, and better than this the country around Salem will support all and ten times more when it is sufficiently settled up.

A Southern Oregon paper says that the Malachi party lead situated on Lightning Gulch a tributary on Canyon creek in Josephine county is proving to be very rich. The lead was found about two years ago and at the time there were many stories in circulation concerning its richness. Since then nothing much had been done on the lead until this spring when an arastra was put up. One run of two weeks has been made and $1 200 cleaned up. It is said that as much more was in the rock crushed but owing to the inexperience of the amalgamator it was lost. They lost during the run several pounds. It is claimed that the quartz is worth at least [illegible] dollars to the ton. The vein is about eight inches thick.

County Commissioners.—The County [illegible] transacted the following business yesterday:

It was ordered that the Sheriff be required to increase his bonds to $30,000 as Collector, in addition to $10,000 bond as Sheriff, and the Treasurer be required to give bonds in the sum of $40,000—and that all parties to undertakings be required to come [illegible] County Surveyor required to give new bond conforming to statute.

The following special orders were made:

Ordered, that the Supervisor of each road district within this county be notified that in rendering their annual accounts, they will be required to set forth in a clear and concise manner the number of days each is employed in the collection of the tax, the number of days each is employed in laboring on the road, and also produce vouchers for all moneys disbursed by them in their capacity as Road Supervisor, and that this order be published in the Weekly Oregonian and Herald for two weeks.

Ordered, that no bills or accounts against the county will be entertained by the County Commissioners, except such as are accompanied with the certificate or order of the party authorized by the Commissioners to contract the same, and are verified by the oath of the party to whom the same are payable.

U. S. District Court—Deady, Judge.—The following were the proceedings in the U. S. District Court yesterday:

United States vs. Joseph Hess; action at law to recover penalties; set for trial on Monday next.

United States vs. steamboat Rainier; motion for leave to file claim of Henry Easton, allowed.

Hearing upon the petition of the Cowlitz Steam Navigation Company for remission of forfeiture, testimony closed.

Also, in same cause order for sale of said steamer Rainier.

In re, James Buck, bankrupt; hearing upon application for final discharge; testimony closed and matter submitted.

United States vs. A. S. Mercer; continued till next term.

Adjourned till Wednesday morning.

Complimentary.—Mr Edwin Russell of the Bank of British Columbia, left by the steamer Pacific, for the purpose of making a visit to England. On Saturday evening last, in view of his departure and probable absence of several months, his numerous friends gave him a complimentary champagne supper at the Lafayette Restaurant. The proceedings of the evening were conducted in true British style—speeches, songs and toasts drank with Highland honors, etc.—and the health of the guest was given on two occasions with full bumpers. Mr Russell responded appropriately and feelingly. On his visit to Merry Old England he takes with him the best wishes of his many friends, who will be glad to shortly welcome him back.

Highway Robbery.—The Bulletin of last evening says: "Mr Eckles, County Clerk of Yamhill county, was robbed yesterday while on his way from Dayton to Lafayette. When but a short distance on his journey, two men with masked faces made their appearance on the road and commanded him to dismount, a request which he promptly complied with. They returned with him into the woods near by, and there relieved him of $900 in gold coin and county warrants, besides his gold watch and chain. The chain appeared unsuited to their taste and they returned it. During the operation a boy seeing the men approached to see what they were up to. They bid him be off and threatened him with death should he mention what he saw. The fellows made off with their booty and are yet at large."

Crops East of the Mountains.—The Grande Ronde Sentinel of the 4th says: "On last Saturday we took a drive down the valley as far as Summerville and all along the road we saw the most ample and substantial evidences of an approaching harvest that will undoubtedly equal, if not surpass any that has ever been raised in the valley. Wheat, oats, barley, and all kinds of vegetables, look remarkably well. The late rains have been a great benefit to the crops, and the squirrels have not been so bad this season as for the past three years. We feel confident that our farmers will be blessed with abundant crops."

From Vancouver.—We are indebted to a correspondent [illegible] for the following: The Methodists are [illegible] very successful revival meetings, and the attendance is very large. On Sunday evening, on account [illegible] crowd and the excessive heat, the services were [illegible] at the public square. The trustees of the [illegible] Seminary intend, during the present vacation, [illegible] the building, and to introduce as additional [illegible] of study, instrumental music, painting and [illegible]—and also to have connected with the school a [illegible] house for young ladies.

[illegible] and Idaho Telegraph.—The Walla Walla [illegible] plains that "the telegraph line for the [illegible] that the towns on the lower river refuse to aid the [illegible]. Our own subscriptions have been quite liberal, and had the towns below done anywhere near as [illegible], we should have had the telegraph before the season [illegible]. As it is, the whole matter is indefinitely postponed, and Walla Walla must remain secluded from the world until such time as Portland capitalists may [illegible] fit to unloose their purse strings."

County Court—Marquam, Judge.—The following are the proceedings of yesterday:

[illegible] F. Shattuck vs. J. B. Wallace; judgment against [illegible]. R. E. Bybee for defendant.

[illegible] G. Fechlin vs. Wm. de Journette; judgment against [illegible] for $20 and costs and disbursements. Caples for [illegible] and Cronin for defendant.

The examination of the pupils will take place on the 15th inst., on [illegible] day the term will close. We hear that the school [illegible] ed with marked ability and success.

[illegible].—A day or two since we mentioned the arrival of several old citizens of Portland who had been [illegible] Eastern States and Europe. Among them, [illegible] dental omission, we should have named Mr [illegible], a very old resident of this city, who has [illegible] in Europe for something like three years. [illegible] know of any who has received a more general [illegible] welcome home.

[illegible] Book.—A Rev. Mr. Taylor, of New York, is engaged in writing a "History of the Devil." [illegible] Taylor [illegible] making a complete biography [illegible] by, we may [illegible] expect Mr Taylor on a [illegible]. His book would be quite incomplete without "notices" of various and sundry people of this [illegible] who have been intimately associated with the [illegible] of the history.

Letters.—The following is a list of letters [illegible] g in the Post Office, Portland, unpaid: Mrs [illegible] Winchester, Dupont, Indiana; T. J. Cotzle, [illegible] City, I. T.; John P. [illegible] Walla Walla Statesman of the 3d, says: "A friend informs us that the hail storm noticed in [illegible], was very destructive to the growing crop. In [illegible] places the vegetation was beaten down, and a great [illegible] destroyed. The hail is described in some instances as being as large as "hen eggs," and in its fall, trees, grain crops and everything else suffered."

[illegible] of Railroad Laborers.—A considerable [illegible] of Chinamen who have been mining on Cow [illegible], in the Southern part of the State, arrived at this [illegible] terday, seeking work on the railroad. We [illegible] aged them at once and sent them forward to [illegible] the grading force is at work, beyond Milwaukie.

[illegible] of Mt. Hood.—The Olympia Standard says: [illegible] ldge, of Whatcom, writes to Gov. Moore, that [illegible] T. Coleman, of Victoria, a gentleman of scientific attainments, contemplates making an ascension of Mt. Hood this summer, and wishes to form a party for that purpose. He proposes to start early in August."

[illegible] County Jail.—The new sheriff upon taking possession of his office, finds the county jail in splendid condition and clean as a pin. This institution is, [illegible] question, the best regulated prison in the State, [illegible] credit to the county.

[illegible].—Sheriff Zieber and Clerk Norden, entertained their friends at the Court House yesterday, with a [illegible] lunch and liquid refreshments. During [illegible], they were called upon and congratulated by a [illegible] ber of people.

[illegible] Peace.—Justice M. P. Bull of Washington Precinct, has fitted up and opened an office on the [illegible] of Washington and Front streets, river side, where [illegible] ed to dispense justice in doses to suit each [illegible] lar case.

[illegible] Poor House.—The necessary preparations for keeping [illegible] nty poor on the farm lately purchased are [illegible] completed, and it is expected that the buildings [illegible] occupied during the present week.

[illegible].—Last evening at a business meeting of the Pioneer club, Chas. Parrish was elected President in [illegible] of Jno W. Sutton, resigned. Peter De Huff was [illegible] Captain of the 2d Nine.

[illegible] Stabbing Case.—The examination of the Chinaman who stabbed young Price was further postponed [illegible] day morning, on account of the inability of the [illegible] to appear as witness.

[illegible] Public Schools.—The public schools of this city [illegible] close the present term on Friday the 10th. The examinations in the several departments will take place on [illegible] day and Friday.

The Senator.—To accommodate the traveling public, the steamer Senator will hereafter touch at Vaughn's wharf, on arriving from Oregon City and before departing in the afternoon.

Situation Wanted.—A young lady advertises for a situation [illegible]. For particulars see advertisement in another [illegible], or address "F. I. B." through the post office.

[illegible] the Fund.—Last Sunday evening a collection was taken up at the M. E. church in aid of the Atkins cork leg fund, which resulted in obtaining $19.10 in coin.

[illegible].—The Pioneer B. B. club will meet for practice at their grounds at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!
A Pure and Powerful Tonic,
Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.
PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.
Prevents Fever and Ague and Bilious Remittent Fevers; Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water. Invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels.
Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.
REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.
Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind, no deadly botanical element, no fiery excitant, but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Low ness of Spirits, and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive, and from both sexes.

As a Genuine Tonic HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay and Debility, and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

My King

When and how shall I meet him? If ever
What are the words he first will say?
How will the barriers now that sever
Our kindred spirits be broken away?
This self-same daylight on him is shining
Shining somewhere the while I sing
The only one who, my will resigning
Could I acknowledge my king my king

Whether his hair be golden or raven
Whether his eyes be dark or blue
I know not now; but twould be engraven
On that white day as my perfect hue
Many a face I have liked for a minute—
Been charmed by a voice with a pleasant ring—
But ever and aye there was something in it—
Something that could not be his my king

I will not dream of him [illegible] and strong
My ideal love may be weak and slight
It matters not to what class he belong,
He would be noble enough in my sight
He may not be brilliantly gifted, my lord,
And he may be learned in everything
But if ever he comes he will strike the chord
Whose [illegible] waits for the hand of its king

But he must be courteous toward the lowly
To the weak and sorrowful [illegible], too
He must be courageous, refined and holy
By nature exalted and firm and true
To such I might fearlessly give the keeping
Of love that would never outgrow its Spring
There could be few tears of a woman s weeping
If they loved such men as my king my king

A CONFERENCE AT THE CORNERS—JOE BIGLER'S WAY OF BUILDING A PLATFORM AND HIS FAILURE

Post Offis, Confedrit X Roads,
(Wich is in the State of Kentucky,)
June 6, 1868

We had a little consultashen at the Corners one day last week on the subjick uv a platform for the [illegible] We hed present, minglin in sweet accord with us, a Democrat frum Ingeany, one from Illinoy, one from Noo York, [illegible] from Conn [illegible] and one from Pennsylveny. As we wuz a consultin—a sort of [illegible] Joe Bigler came in. Hopin to smooth [illegible], I too wunst interdoost him as a Conf [illegible] soljer, whereupon the Northern [illegible] with less sense than I sposed men could [illegible], sprung to their feet and shakin him vociferously by the hand, swore they were proud to [illegible] him, and insistid on furnishin him with all the licker he could consoom that nite anyhow And they to-wunst made known the object uv [illegible] bein [illegible] and invited him to join em

"Certainly," sed Joseph, "certinly Let me see how we [illegible] this thing. You are from several diff[illegible] it is perfectly possible that ther may be a [illegible] not enuff to [illegible] but still enuff to kind o' [illegible] the sweet bar [illegible] Let me sejest that the [illegible] the table—Bascom [illegible] that's boiled onto it [illegible] the opinyons you hev [illegible] they are took out and [illegible] down as it [illegible] that they may be [illegible] into one sweet [illegible] Elder Punt and [illegible] for reasons [illegible] Captain McPelt er and I who his rite represented the Corners.

"Now," sed this [illegible] winkin vishusly at Pollock, who hed [illegible] in a shirt afore, "we [illegible] our little opinyuns on the subject uv [illegible]

The [illegible] uv em wrote busy for fifteen minits, [illegible] his incubrashuns into the hat [illegible]

"Mr. Pollock, will you extract these droppins [illegible] and [illegible]?"

"Certainly," sed Pollock. "Certainly Here [illegible]

[illegible] to extend any rites to the Afrikin [illegible] naterally inferior to the white [illegible] that all the trainin and ed[illegible] him wood [illegible] up to the level uv an aver[illegible] white child uv 14. To give the ballot [illegible] with every [illegible] frown onto severely.

"JETHRO L. KIPPINS, uv Illinoy."

"[illegible]" rung out Bigler.

[illegible] to givin the Afrikin the ballot [illegible] he is ineligible to offis, and will [illegible] to fill the most [illegible] Good Heving! [illegible] Conn [illegible] nig [illegible] and [illegible] My Anglo-Sax [illegible]

"Bully, [illegible]" shouted Bigler; but somehow the rest uv em didn't shout "bully." They be [illegible]

"JONAS PEPPER uv Injeany"

The [illegible] from Ohio wanted to withdraw [illegible] but Bigler prevented him [illegible] sed Pepper," sed [illegible] the disgustin characteristicks uv [illegible] with [illegible] Caucashen [illegible] the impossibility uv [illegible] Deakin, [illegible] in this vicinity? [illegible] nigger in there [illegible] go on."

"I am [illegible] to elevatin the nigger for the [illegible] from the disabilities [illegible] our ekal. [illegible] niggers for our sons [illegible] female niggers for [illegible] in law? Wood any proud Cau[illegible] for a step mother [illegible] the [illegible] more [illegible]

[illegible] and a Democrat, as you [illegible] a potent [illegible] They gro[illegible] First [illegible] educated. [illegible] from bein educated [illegible] Third [illegible] Fourth. [illegible] marryin [illegible] Go on, Pollock

"I [illegible] this," sed I, seein to where [illegible] was leadin us. "I pertest agin [illegible] farther.

"[illegible] Parson, there are several [illegible] in the hat, wich we will hev. Pull [illegible] pulled em.

"I [illegible] uv Conn that, am opposed to givin [illegible] rites in that States, becos, incapable [illegible] naterally indol[illegible] he is, he [illegible] to with [illegible] forced to do [illegible] He wood come north in droves and [illegible] and jails, and be too heavy a [illegible] for our over-taxed people.

"ZEPHANIA SCUDDER, uv Connecticut."

"[illegible] Pollock," sed Bigler.

"I stand opposed to conferrin rites upon the Afrikin, [illegible] havin allus been accustomed to labor, and bein uv a naterally docile disposition, [illegible] the man [illegible] uv wich to make laborers, [illegible] the North, [illegible] in southin to do [illegible] wood gladly work at less wages than the proud Caucashan labrer, he woold drive them out uv [illegible] ployment, and into the alms houses and jails.

"P. YEAGER, uv Pennsylveny "

Pollock and Bigler laft vociferously and uproarously, and the others lookt ez uncomfortable ez men cood It hed gone too fur already, and I [illegible] my hat and emptied wat remained onto the floor

"[illegible]" said I, lookin Bigler thro and thro, "your conduct is reprehensible in the extreme You [illegible], sir, ez a disturber, ez a maker of mischief, as a d [illegible] uv peace, and—

"Easy, Parson, easy, or I may possibly forget the consideration doo your cloth, and choke you a trifle. The fact is, my friends Pollock and I was actooated by the highest possible motives, wasn't we Pollock?"

"Certainly—why not?" assured the wretch

"We felt that it was nessary that suthin be agreed upon in this nigger question It s bin a tough thing to handle ever sence I knowd any thing about it, and I wanted to harmonize our views and put em in a shape to meet and anser the objeckshuns uv our common foe—the Ablishinists. I confess I wuz disappinted There are reasons enuff fer deprivin the nigger uv rites but somehow they don't hang together Thus, I've [illegible] one patriot opposes elevatin them becoz they're incapable naterally of bein eddikated—another demands laws agin their bein eddikated, becos, ef they are given half a chance, they'll take all the offices in the gift uv the people—another, becoz they're so disgustinly made by nature ez to aggrite leathin and disgust—another, becoz ef they have this one privilege, laws will be required to keep our women from marryin uv em—another, becoz he won't work, exceptin he s forced to—and still another, becoz he is so naterally adapted to work that he'll underwork the whites, and set them adrift Among all these reasons he would be hard to sort, indeed who couldn't find one that wood do him But somehow they re tangled one mind can't take em all in They don't seem to jibe and in attemptin to sort uv arrange and reconcile em in logical order and get em to dove tale together I m all tore up and so is Pollock I was pleased with the first, third and fifth reasons but alas! the second, fourth and sixth upsot em Ef I tie to the second fourth and sixth I am confronted with the first third and fifth and ez they are all A 1 Dimocracy what is Pollock and me to do? Rely we are at sea without rudder or compass and unless reason d may float into the harbor uv Ablishunism which not hevin but one idea is easily comprehended I must sleep on this and ez it is time that we seek our virchus couches, Bascom will shet up

And the cuss turned us out and saw that Bascom locked the doors before he left, Suthin will yet happen to this Bigler

CAUTION.

To whom it may concern I hereby give notice that the so-called "Shipley's Pacific Turbine Water Wheel" is a direct infringement and copy of the "James Leffel's American Double Turbine Water Wheel" and its manufacture and use is hereby prohibited. Any person or persons making or constructing or vending said Water Wheels make themselves liable to heavy damages and penalties. Parties interested will take notice, for I shall prosecute all such infringements to the utmost extent of the law

That all may know I mean what I say and am not playing "bluff," I give the following extract from a legal opinion on this subject from one of the most eminent Patent Attorneys in the United States

Washington, D C, April 17 1868

"Mr. A. Myers In accordance with your request we have examined the patents of Shipley on Water Wheels and are clearly of the opinion that they both infringe the Leffel's patents In both of Shipley's Wheels he uses the upper and lower tiers of buckets precisely as Leffel does and in this he clearly infringes The fact that Shipley has applied another series of buckets in addition to those used by Leffel does not relieve him from the consequences of infringement at all He has no right to use those two tier of buckets, whether alone or with a third or any other number of tiers added It is a clear infringement Respectfully yours,

DODGE & MUNN

I hereby give notice that I will prosecute every infringement on our Patents, whether it is the maker, user, buyer or seller Every infringement, whether our claims are used in whole or in part, will be prosecuted

CAUTION.

To all whom it may concern —One A Myers is publishing and circulating a statement that my wheel is an infringement on the Leffel wheel and he will prosecute said infringement to the utmost extent of the Law" His statements are not worth a denial His game is "Bluff" which if he would only take the case to Court would soon be played out Don t believe him

I would be glad to get a case into the United States Court and get a decision That would forever stop the mouth of Myers and his misrepresentations The legal opinions of more reputable lawyers than Dodge & Munn and A Myers have pronounced my patents no infringement on the American Turbine. Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhoea Gleet Stricture Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness Impotency etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence or from v[illegible] absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins weakness of the limbs confused vision, blunted intellect loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances a disposition to shun society loss of memory, hectic flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face furred tongue feted breath coughs consumption, night sweats monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails at effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case, symptoms length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn to certificates dupe the unwary Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tradesmen and because too lazy to work at their trades Some are tinsmiths shoemakers, newspaper carriers intelligence office keepers etc Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863 The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets; for as advertising physicians, in eight out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient s letters, etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure
